Family Guardian's Financial Services Division has been awarded the 2008 Gold Master Agency Award by the General Agents & Managers Association International (GAMA) for the second consecutive year.

Six Agency Managers have also received individual awards in recognition of their outstanding record in leadership and sales performance.

The prestigious awards, presented at GAMA's San Francisco conference, highlight insurance agencies or companies considered to be at the top of their industry.

GAMA promotes the professional development of managers in the insurance and financial services industry through education, research, and networking through its international memberships.

For over 36 years, GAMA has recognised nearly 36,000 sales leaders in the industry worldwide through its management awards programme.
