

Family Guardian Donates to Girl Guides

Family Guardian Insurance made a financial donation to the Bahamas Girl Guides Association (BGGA), at their Financial Centre on East Bay Street.

During the presentation, Marion Chestnut, Assistant Vice-President of Operations at Family Guardian, explained that the company gives to many charities and selected the Girl Guides as a recipient. “We consider Girl Guides to be a very viable option for girls and young women in The Bahamas. More of such organizations are needed to assist the youth in the development of their potential,” said Mrs. Chestnut.

Accepting on behalf of the BGGA were Elma Garraway, Assistant Chief Commissioner, and Maria Ferere, member of the Fund-Raising Committee and a former member of the 6th Nassau Guide Company. Mrs. Ferere thanked Family Guardian on behalf of the BGGA and explained that the funds will contribute to making the new headquarters building a reality.

“This new building will ensure that more girls experience the same fun-filled and exciting activities which were grounded in the Promise and the Law, as interpreted by our innovative leader, Betty Cole,” reminisced Mrs. Ferere.
