

family guardian managers among the best of the best at gama toronto conference

Family Guardian's Financial Services Division has been awarded the 2007 Gold Master Agency Award by the General Agents & Managers Association International (GAMA). The award, presented at GAMA's Toronto conference, recognizes insurance agencies or companies considered to be at the top of their industry.

Agency Managers John Hepburn, Ann Marie Major and Ingrid Rose were each awarded the Bronze International Management Award for their individual agency's performance.

GAMA promotes the professional development of managers in the insurance and financial services industry through education, research, and networking with professionals through its international membership. For over 35 years GAMA has recognized nearly 36,000 sales leaders in the industry worldwide through its management awards programme.
